Once again the Classic Guitar Society of Michigan has evolved into a new, yet familiar form. Our first meeting at Kresge Hall on the campus of Madonna University was a great success. After a get-to-know-you conducted by Larry, our intrepid Treasurer, we soon opened up the circle of players to solo play. Those who braved the cold were rewarded with works by Bach, Carulli, Sor, Weiss and Roberts (yes, Roberts. The original study "Meditation" by Mary Lou Roberts was performed for the first time in this venue.). Things moved quickly to ensemble play under the direction of Brian Roberts. This was the first time these scores were seen by many of those participating and a good showing was made. We can look forward to refinement. After the playing, several members sat for a chat about the meeting, the future web site and all things guitar. (Including a brief review of a recently sampled beaujolais.)
