A Farewell to Summer

With lawns and leaves still green, the shorter days and lazy sunrises signal another season for the CGSM is about to begin. There will be recollections of the many summer workshops, recitals and road trips, the proud unveiling of newly treasured instruments and even the fruit of lazy summer days of practice. This reflection will be balanced by the frantic events of the early concert season (see calendar).

Plans are underway for the meetings of the CGSM that will continue to offer those in attendance entertainment, inspiration and a chance to share with those others happily afflicted with an appetite for the potential latent in the orchestra that fits on one knee.

Join us.
